MILLER'S DALE BURN'S NIGHT A WEE TRIUMPH!

Piping in the Haggis

Robbie ceremoniously attacks the Haggis!

A fine traditional four-course meal

By Vic Pleda

For connoisseurs of Scottish Heritage and Culture in our midst or for those who just enjoy a good (but different) night out, the second annual opportunity to savour the delights of a traditional Burns' Supper presented itself on Saturday, 26 January 2002. The venue for the small but elite gathering was the local Community Hall in North Millers Dale. This uniquely Scottish event was well attended by both believers and Sassenachs accompanied by their respective Bonnie Lassies.

The Bill O'Fare was traditional haggis, neeps and tatties preceded by a delicious spicy tumshie broth, which had a decidedly parsnip taste to it (I had to resist the temptation of a third helping). For the uninitiated, neeps and tumshies are both names for good old-fashioned swedes. Dessert was a very tasty crusty apple tart which was washed down with coffee and a drop of the real amber nectar.

The meal was preceded by the 'piping in' of the haggis by Phil Garrod of Inverfarham,

Selkirk Grace

Some cannot eat that want it;
But we hae meat and we can eat, prior to its ritual slaying. 'Chieftain' Robbie Henderson delivered the address to the haggis. Both presented themselves in full Highland regalia and carried out their tasks in a solemn but enthusiastic manner. The meal was followed by traditional readings from the great man's works and included The Immortal Memory and a Toast to the Lassies.

One of the highlights of the evening was the company's attempts at Scottish Country dancing. A tribute to the Mistress of Ceremonies' efforts was that every dance, no matter how complex, attracted a full floor. At times perhaps too many hoochers tried to demonstrate their expertise.

Another highlight featured the sterling rendition of Corriechoillie (Welcome to the Northern Lights) by a slightly nervous Malcolm Stainthorpe, who demonstrated what could be achieved with a lot of hard work and an understanding wife (and neighbours), in less than a year of learning to play the bagpipes.

The dancing was followed by a general singsong featuring a number of old Scottish standards; luckily someone had the foresight to provide song sheets. What was lacking in technical merit was more than compensated for by enthusiasm and whisky. The evening was rounded off with a rousing chorus or two of Auld Lang Syne.

The evening was a resounding success, thoroughly enjoyed by all. A massive thank you is due to Bridget, Doreen and Jane for the catering and hall decoration and to Robbie and Janet Henderson for their tremendous efforts in arranging the Evening and preparing a magnificent 'Bill O'Fare'.

Only a short but warm welcome to this edition as we have received several letters that we wanted to publish. Yet again I find myself juggling the articles to squeeze everything into the space. Still, far be it for me to complain, because it is heartening that so many of you are finding time to contribute to our community newsletter. This means that my job as editor is to publish and edit the newsletter content and not to create it.

LETTERS

Dear Editor,

I noted that in the December edition of 'The Millers Tale', the article on Rat Run stated that the NMDCA committee was exploring how to take the matter further with Eastleigh Borough Council knowing that there was not a consensus of opinion on the rat run issue. I would like to add to my previous note on this matter in the belief that it may help in going forward to the council.

There are two issues relating to the traffic through North Millers Dale Road: danger and amenity. By far the greatest of these is danger. We have seen recent adverts on television showing the difference in stopping speed for a car travelling at 35 mph instead of 30 mph and the consequences for a person or child impacted at 35 mph. As mentioned in the NMDCA newsletter a previous Police exercise measured the AVERAGE speed as 41 mph. The report doesn't say when the measurement was taken - in my experience the traffic is considerably faster at peak times, people seeming to be in a bigger hurry to get where they are going. To get to an average speed of 41 mph a considerable number have to be doing between 50 & 60 mph. Then consider that this is a road through an estate with many blind bends littered by side roads and drive exits onto it. With the volume of traffic using the road the potential for a serious or fatal accident is enormous.

Some have mentioned hedges not being cut. I've examined this aspect and can say that the hedges are not the problem. Firstly they are cut back and secondly the most dangerous exits are situated on the apex of the bends so the bend and not the hedge is the problem.

Please please please don't leave it until someone is badly hurt before action is taken.

Dear Editor,

A policeman was checking speeds of cars at the entrance of the cut into Drummond Way (opp. pub car park) - I think it was 21st or 14th Dec? He was there for about an hour (I was looking through lace curtains - his car was parked in the road) but it was a quiet time for traffic.

Christmas day I went for a quick walk before visitors arrived and there was an accident on NMD at the entrance at Charlacote (a letter in the mag. said they are waiting for a car through their dining room) It has been an accident waiting to happen. The above two may help our case to resolve some of the problems on the estate.

I just wondered to whether you have had anybody raise the issue of the noise from young people coming out of the pub. I don't want to appear to be a whinger and don't want to spoil young peoples fun but the occasional Friday/Saturday the noise and language has been excessive.

Dear Sir,

I composed the following letter last October after receiving Issue No.13 but forgot to deliver it and then thought no-one would be interested in the view of one person whose perception seems to be at odds with the rest of the world. But on reading Issue No. 14 I noted that some others saw things as I do and decided to dig it out.

The significance of extending the 30mph zone from outside Drapers to just north of the traffic lights can have absolutely no bearing on the habit of turning into NMD to avoid the lights. It has always been like that ever since the lights were installed and surely the speed limit in NMD has always been 30mph. If they extend the 30mph zone at all - why on earth not to beyond the Hocombe Rd junction and also include the Hiltingbury Rd continuation along Baddesley Rd to the Knightwood roundabout.

As an NMD estate resident for nearly twenty years it occurs to me that it does not take a degree in rocket science to know the answers to your 4 questions. It only needs a stroll along the local roads other than NMD to observe how motorists behave. Many of the roads are cul-de-sacs and many of the 'locals (residents) treat them as single lane carriageways often 'straight lining' around blind corners at unnecessary excessive speed, bearing in mind that they are only seconds from home.

Stand, if you will at the junction of NMD and Charlecote and see how many vehicles travel over the centre white line (direction Baddesley Rd). Traffic coming from that direction, around that long blind bend is very often unbelievably fast. (The Blue Line is one of the biggest culprits.) My wife and I were very nearly knocked down by a car once when coming out of the footpath opposite Charlecote.

How many motorists negotiate the turning from Hursley Rd (northbound) into NMD, badly and too fast?

Most of these people are local residents and probably the same ones who carp on about the danger to their children. When they have their children in their cars or they are on their way to or from work it is another story. Your correspondent, Mr. Sparkes highlights another problem. Apart from the vegetation encountered by pedestrians, there are numerous bushes planted by the council that partially obscure the motorist's view on bends or at junctions.

A Better Environment in which to live

On 29 January, following long discussions and pressure by one of our residents, Brian Sparks, a public meeting was convened in the North Millers Dale Hall.

The Eastleigh Borough Council members acknowledged past neglect of the area and promised more attention to the upkeep of the estate in future. Various initiatives were discussed such as the amount of times per year grass should be cut, and the amount of times overhanging shrubs should be cleared. Present proposals are that grass should be cut 12 times a year and overhanging shrubs cut back 4 times per year. There is no provision for clearing vegetation or leaves after they have fallen. Councillor Doreen Wellfare considered that adequate funds should be made available for this work and grass cutting should not be reduced to give a budget for leaf clearing.

A new Contractor, Glendale, has been given the contract to act on behalf of the Council to do this work. The members at the meeting encouraged the residents to give feedback on their performance. So if you think grass cutting, overhanging shrubs and leaf clearing is not being done to the correct standard, LET THE COUNCIL KNOW AND WRITE TO THE MILLERS TALE SO WE CAN BACK YOU UP.

The Council asked the residents for assistance in clearing up the project and many who attended volunteered to help. Hopefully by the time you read this article work will already have started...

Nick Webb's meeting report is on the next page and he will have run his first volunteer weekend on 17th March.

Letters con'd

The council has proven to be very remiss when trimming these shrubs especially those around car parking bays etc. This leads to prickly branches intruding into the bays and people who park badly as a habit, park even worse.

Many residents choose to cut their 'own' bit of verge in order to keep up appearances, I among them. A large problem is about to start again with the arrival of Autumn/Winter. Many residents and visitors feel it is their God given right to drive or park on the grass verges, especially if they own a 4WD or similar. The council in their wisdom set the kerbstones only 1" above the road surface thus making the problem that much easier for the non-caring motorist who perhaps doesn't own such a vehicle.

The council chose to lay the verges to lawn and I bought my house because I liked that. Is it unreasonable to expect the council to help me maintain the verges? Despite the publicity and their soundbites they obviously have another view.

I have asked the council to do various things over the years, some have been done but only begrudgingly and only after a lot of badgering. After one installation, which was damaged the very next day, I was told by one senior person at Eastleigh that the installation was in error and that if he had been in charge it would not have been authorised and furthermore - if it became damaged again or broken, it would not be replaced. Try reasoning with that attitude! A request for 'calming' however was ruled out because of noise concerns for the residents living by the 'calming' object.

Cars are here to stay and unfortunately they are all too often in the hands of very inconsiderate people. Enforcement and education are the buzzwords that arrive with the wind and float away in the exhaust fumes. It seems that the council and the police find all effort in that regard too tiresome and too expensive. They would much rather organise a 'twinning' binge in Germany or fine a motorist for eating a Mars bar. Anything for a quiet life.

An Avonbourne resident.

CRANBORNE GARDENS/NORTH MILLERS DALE WOODLAND ENHANCEMENT PROPOSALS

Report by Nick Webb (Countryside Projects Officer)

Thank you to everyone who took part in the recent consultation regarding the two areas of woodland at the junction of North Millers Dale and Hursley Road. It was very encouraging to have such a large attendance of local people at the public meeting on the 29 January. Following the meeting I received further comments that are summarised below.

From the meeting and the subsequent comments there did appear to be shared opinions on several points. Respondents wished to see the paths maintained, the area managed for the benefit of wildlife, the gathering of young people to be discouraged, and barriers of brambles and thorny shrubs retained to the rear of properties backing onto the woodlands.

NORTHERN WOODLAND

- Paths to be cut regularly with limited laying of natural path gravel if necessary.
- Investigate the setting up of a volunteer group to undertake management on a rotation basis.
- Renew entrance signs with 'Cricket Copse' as the name, and place simple permissive footpath arrows.
- Reduce height of laurel hedge to approximately 3 metres and trim sides to improve sight lines for traffic emerging from North Millers Dale and to the bus stop on Hursley Road. This would retain the screening effect whilst facilitating an annual trim.
- Encourage the thickening of the boundary with Hursley Road by the planting of native trees and shrubs and allowing natural regeneration - the spread of laurel into the woodland is to be discouraged.
- Investigate screen planting of thorny shrubs around the gas governor.

SURGERY CAR PARK

- Remove laurel from around footpath lighting
- Plant short section of hawthorn hedge to screen fence
- Remove dead elm trees
- Reduce height of laurel hedge to 1.5 - 2 metres to improve views, discourage youngsters gathering and to allow for an annual trim
- Pursue the placement of a lockable car barrier with the surgery

We will try and get work underway as soon as possible although a financial allocation will need to be made by the local Area Committee and most management work will have to be stopped during the bird nesting season (April-June). However there is plenty that can be done immediately and I am organising a volunteer event for Sunday 17 March. I will meet all volunteers in the northern woodland starting from 10.00 am. Please try and walk if you live locally as there is limited parking and please wear old clothes and strong footwear and bring some waterproofs and gardening gloves if you have them. Children under 15 are welcome if accompanied by a responsible adult. All instruction and tools are provided and I even supply tea, coffee, cold drinks and biscuits! Events usually go on until 2.00-4.00 pm but you can come and go as you please. Tasks will include clearing the footpaths, planting trees and shrubs and collecting rubbish.

I trust I have provided an accurate summary of the consultation and way forward, however please contact me if you require any further information at this stage.

CRANBORNE GARDENS, NORTH MILLERS DALE RESULTS OF PUBLIC CONSULTATION - Jan/Feb 2002

There were 4 comments by E-mail, 1 by telephone and 2 by letter. This was a smaller than expected response. This may be because there was good attendance at the public meeting and residents felt they had got their views across at that time. At the public meeting there were 42 names collected and there were possibly more attending who did not wish to provide details.

The main issues raised were as follows:

- Maintain a buffer zone to the rear of properties - brambles/thorny shrubs
- Maintain as an attractive area for wildlife without encouraging young people to hang around, especially at night
  - Maintain the footpath through the woods

STARSTRUCK CHEERLEADING SQUAD

By Kelly Spurrier age 13

Have you ever watched those American basketball films on the T.V and seen the young girls in the background waving their arms around? Well I have and I often thought it would be quite fun to have a go. I asked around and found that the Solent Stars Basket Ball team, who are based at Fleming Park, are crying out for girls aged 10 years plus, to join the Star Struck cheerleading squad. I joined up straight away and have really enjoyed a very successful season.

We are a lively bunch of lasses who meet every Sunday at Fleming Park from 5-7pm and work out various dance routines and chants to encourage the players. Although there is often the opportunity to travel with the team for away matches, we only strut our stuff for the home games, which are generally every 2-3 weeks on a Saturday evening.

We have also taken part in the Eastleigh carnival and have won first prize 2 years running.

If you fancy having a go at waving some poms why not come down and watch a match and see what you think or, alternatively, give Judy Rice a call on 023 80 460032.

It really is good fun and good exercise!

The Story behind Millers Dale Publications

Hiltonbury Farmhouse, 1970

Hiltonbury Farmhouse, 1998 (pictures courtesy Chandler's Ford -Yesterday and Today)

By Gerald Ponting.

Anyone who has a copy of 'Chandler's Ford - Yesterday and Today' may have noticed that the publisher is Millers Dale Publications. When I came to live in Weavers Place 15 years ago, I chose this as the imprint for books that I publish. Self-publication is a viable option for authors, especially for topics like local history.

Perhaps I should start at the beginning. I have been involved in self-publication since 1977 when I was living on the Isle of Lewis and fascinated by the wonderful group of megaliths sometime called 'the Stonehenge of the Hebrides'. My first publication was 'The Standing Stones of Callanish', a 32-page booklet, which was the first ever guidebook to the site. One thousand copies sold out in less than four months, more than recouping our outlay to the local printer. The book was reprinted several times and sold a total of 13000 copies over a seven-year period - which must be some kind of record!

Before my return to Hampshire, I had published a number of other guidebooks to archaeological sites in the islands. Since 1986, I have worked with a colleague in Fordingbridge, writing and publishing books on the local history of that area (which is where I was brought up). Our publishing imprint is Charlewood Press, derived from the name of one of the medieval open fields locally. We started with four-page walk leaflets and gradually worked up to larger books.

Charlewood Press now has seven titles in print, two of our earlier books having completely sold out. Our latest book, which sold extremely well in the run-up to Christmas 2001, is a 176-page paperback, 'The History of Fordingbridge - from Earliest Times to the 21st Century', based on extensive research which my colleague Anthony Light has carried out over many years.

But, to return to Millers Dale Publications. Most of the small books with this imprint are not in bookshops. I give colour slide presentations to many different societies and in some cases I have compiled an 'accompanying book' which is offered for sale to my audiences. They include 'A Kingcup by any other Name ...' (on the origins of the English names of our common wild flowers) and 'Twenty-Five Centuries of Hampshire'. I've also just published a video based on one of my slide shows, 'Nancy Thring's Country Diary'.

'Chandler's Ford - Yesterday and Today' arose out of a conversation with Barbara Hillier, who had written two previous books on Chandler's Ford. She provided the old photographs from her large collection; I photographed the same scenes in 1998; she wrote most of the text and we edited it together. I assembled all the text and pictures in a computer page make-up programme and the discs went to Hobbs the Printers at Totton. Within a few weeks we had 1000 copies and started distributing them to local outlets. Rapid sales enabled us to pay the printers promptly. In fact, it was not long before we needed to print a second thousand. Currently, we have just a handful of copies left. Soon after this, I was invited to produce a similar book on Romsey, working with Barbara Burbridge of LTVAS (the Romsey local history society), and this has also sold well.

I've also compiled two books for mainstream publishers - a hardback pictorial history of 'Fordingbridge and District' for Phillimore (with Tony Light), and, in full colour, 'Landmark Visitor Guide to the New Forest'.

Self-publication, however, has the huge advantage of complete control by the author over the content and appearance of the finished book, especially since the advent of cheap and sophisticated page make-up software. Also, a self-publisher takes both the author's and the publisher's 'cut' of the bookshop price. (Most mainstream publishers pay authors a royalty of only 10% - or even 5% - of the cover price of a book.)

The downsides are the problems of distribution (not too bad if the book is of purely local interest) and storage - my study is stacked high with boxes of books awaiting sale! There is also, of course, the initial financial outlay, but I am pleased to say that I have never lost money in the long run.

I have four forthcoming books in the pipeline, two for larger publishers (one based in Wales and one in the Netherlands) and two for self-publication through Charlewood Press and MDP - but that is another story.

Further details can be found on Gerald's Website: <http://home.clara.net/gponting/index-page11.html>

Table Tennis Tournament

In our last issue, we appealed for someone to lend us a table tennis table so that we could run a tournament for the younger members of North Millers Dale. As a result of our appeal Margaret and Tony Corsten have kindly offered to let us borrow their table tennis table, so the event is definitely ON.

The event will be run on Saturday 27 April from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the hall and will be open to boys and girls between the ages of 10 to 15.

The format of the tournament will depend on the numbers who turn up, but everyone will be guaranteed a turn, and it will not be dominated by the older ones. The tournament will be grouped into ages, so a ten-year-old girl will not find herself playing against a 15-year-old boy.

Admission will be £1 per child.

Any parents who wish to come along to support their children, or to help with the event will be very welcome. This is especially true for parents with younger children. Whilst some children are playing, some children will be waiting for a turn. We hope to have other games on offer to be played whilst the table tennis tournament is in progress.

We recognise most of our events are for the adults. This one is for the kids. Please come and support it, to encourage us to run more events for you.

- For and against fencing the northern woodland

Below is a selection of comments received:

- 'all that's really needed is cutting back and maintenance of pathways with, perhaps, some more cutting back to aid nature and make things safer for walkers'
- 'I would greatly prefer a buffer zone of unkept brambles to be left behind my back fence, to deter people's access there'
- 'The screen of trees and shrubs should be left to regrow and replanted where necessary'
- 'Our main concern is for the woods to be attractive and to support wildlife without becoming a focal point for youths gathering at night'
- 'The barrier to the car park seems an excellent idea, though I suspect that it will be difficult to find a barrier attendant'
